

10 of the best skills to put on a resume

---

As a professional equine Veterinary Technician, Assistant, or Support Staff member, your resume is the first impression that potential employers will have of you. To stand out from the competition, it's important to highlight your most relevant skills.

Here are some of the best resume skills for equine veterinary technicians and assistants:

1. Animal handling: Demonstrating your ability to safely and effectively handle horses is a key skill for any equine veterinary technician or assistant.
  2. Medical terminology: Knowledge of medical terminology, specifically related to equine, is essential for understanding and communicating effectively with veterinarians and clients.
-

-
3. Technical skills: Experience with a variety of veterinary equipment and software is an important skill for equine veterinary technicians and assistants.
  4. Communication: Good communication skills are important for interacting with clients, veterinarians, and other team members.
  5. Attention to detail: Being detail-oriented is crucial in the veterinary industry, where even small mistakes can have serious consequences.
  6. Organization: Keeping track of multiple patients and their medical records, or drug expiration dates and pharmacy stock, requires strong organizational skills.
  7. Problem-solving: The ability to think creatively and solve problems is important in a fast-paced and unpredictable work environment.
  8. Multitasking: Equine veterinary technicians and assistants often have to juggle multiple tasks at once, making multitasking a valuable skill.
  9. Compassion: Showing compassion and empathy towards the patient and their owners is essential in the veterinary industry.
  10. Time management: Prioritizing tasks and managing your time effectively is crucial for providing high-quality care to patients while meeting deadlines and completing administrative tasks.

By highlighting these skills on your resume, you can show potential employers that you have what it takes to be a successful equine Veterinary Technician, Assistant or Support Staff member.

AAEVT Career Center Team